TODAY'S LANDSCAPE

 The idea of being educated in one block is fading.

 One in three employees think that artificial intelligence will replace them in the future.

 The jobs of the future are yet to be imagined.

 Companies are expected to play a more proactive role in training their employees.

*The Tomorrow's skills report sets out the findings of a wide-ranging, international survey conducted on 15,000 adults aged between 18 and 65 in 15 countries in Europe and the Americas
